Largest vegetable contest to be held at South Florida Fair

Many people enjoy growing their own vegetables and some grow outstanding sizes. If you think your vegetable is bigger than anyone else's you have an opportunity coming up to not only let everyone know about it but also win some money. The South Florida Fair and the Palm Beach County Cooperative Extension Service are sponsoring a "Largest Vegetable Contest" at this year's fair, Jan. 14 through Jan. 30, 1994.

The rules for the contest are simple. The vegetable entered must have been grown by the exhibitor. There is no minimum weight, and contestants must submit their entries to the South Florida Fair on opening day, Jan. 14, between 10 a.m. and noon. The contest will be held in the Agricultural Building #6, which is the first building on the left after you enter the fair through the main Expo Building. Winning vegetables will be on display during the fair so everyone can see the size of the winners.

For additional information about the largest vegetable contest, call the South Florida Fair at 793-0333.

City of South Bay receives funding for two more officers

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

The City of South Bay was recently awarded with a $130,293 federal grant that will enable the city to hire two more police officers. Under President Clinton's new program, the three-year grant was awarded to the city. South Bay presently has 12 officers on staff.

South Bay Mayor Clarence Anthony said he was extremely proud of Lester Baird, South Bay City Manager, and Roy Humston, South Bay Police Chief, for the manner in which they wrote up the grant that enabled the city to receive the monies. Mayor Anthony told Mr. Baird and Chief Humston, "You did an outstanding job on submittal of the application."

According to City Commissioner Michael Jackson, "It (two new officers) won't take care of all our problems here but it is a very welcome addition."

As specified in the grant application, the city will use the new officers to address problems in public housing and "forge partnerships with the community and with other city agencies."

City officials also have hopes of targeting at-risk youths.

Due to the city's weak tax base, Comm. Jackson said it is hard to hire more help for the city.

The city's goal is to eventually reduce the crime rate. The crime rate which has risen dramatically is contributed to the illegal use and sale of illegal drugs. This increases thefts and burglaries in an effort to support drug habits.

Due to staffing constraints, the city has only been able to implement community involvement among law enforcement at a very marginal level.

Mr. Jones was presented with certificate of appreciation award by Paul Milelli, director of public safety for Palm Beach County. Nancy Hykel, president Hykel Management, presented a plaque to Mr. Jones for his courage and outstanding job performance. Hykel Management are agents with the Palm Beach County Board of County Commissioners.

Eva Wummer, president of U.S. K-9 Security, West Palm Beach, which provides security to Palm Glade Apartments, said, "We're very proud of James. I knew he was going to do a good job (U.S. K-9 Security has been providing security for the complex since March).

Man drowns in canal following heavy drinking

Tammy Jackson

An Okeechobee man drowned Sunday, Dec. 26, after a night of drinking at a local bar. Salvador R. Vasquez, 18, and five of his friends had left the Cielito Lundo Club, State Road 80, enroute back to Okeechobee.

As the vehicle they were riding in arrived at the intersection of State Road 715 and State Road 80, Vasquez complained of being sick and nauseated. The vehicle stopped on the side of the road and Vasquez got out to vomit. As he exited the vehicle, reports state Vasquez sat on the guardrail along the canal, lost his balance and ultimately fell backwards into the canal.

Divers with the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office Rescue Team arrived at the scene and recovered the body at 7:45 a.m. in approximately 10 feet of water. The body was not apprehended until the morning hours due to poor lighting and visibility.

The Cielito Lundo Club is a well-known Latin establishment where dances are frequently held. The men had been drinking prior to and while they were at the club. They purchased beer prior to arriving at the club.

According to reports from the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, Vasquez was very intoxicated.

80-year-old woman gets birthday wish and flies over Belle Glade in a Cessna 182

By Brenda Bunting

As a teenager, Lois Carkey didn't dream of owning a new car or even an elegant dress to wear to her high school dance. In 1929, at age 16, her heart's desire was to fly in the open cockpit of a "biplane." Lois climbed in the front seat of the Cessna four-seater Skylane with pilot Rick Farmer. She had her baseball cap pulled down tight as she waved through the window. The other seats were occupied by friends Mina Murray and Mrs. Duda.

When she returned to earth, Lois said the ride was beautiful and she hopes she can go up again sometime. Pilot Rick flew the Cessna over her house on Northwest 4th Street and over other parts of the city.

Her friend, Linda said she was glad to be able to arrange the flight for Lois, which Mr. Farmer provided for free.

"All she does is work," said Linda. "She mows 16 yards a week. She gets up early in the morning and walks down the street putting everyone's newspapers on their doorstep."

head.

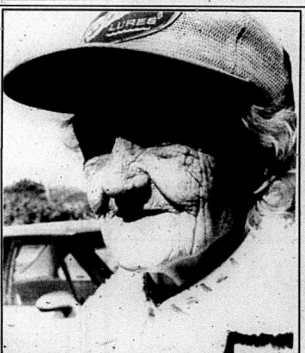

"I'm so excited. You don't know what this means to me," she said. "For years I hoped I could have one more airplane ride," she said. Thanks to her friend and next door neighbor Linda Duda, she got her wish.

The real meaning of Christmas

On Wednesday, Dec. 15, every fifth grade student at B.G.E. received a gift from Mrs. Dermon's mother. They in turn, gave their gifts away.

Mrs. Duvall made over 100 sets of Christmas portholders - 1 red and 1 green for each student. The students chose wrapping paper, mini-ornaments and ribbon, wrapped their sets of holiday portholders, and took their gifts home for their mothers, grandmothers, aunts, or some other loved one.

The sets were crocheted and took Mrs. Duvall from June until the first part of December to make. She is in declining health, and at times found it very difficult to do the handiwork.

Many of the children wrote thank you notes to Mrs. Duvall and she appreciated receiving them. This is the real spirit of.

Christmas - giving of yourself and your abilities to others and sharing whatever small tasks you can do!

ILS project almost ready

The Integrated Learning System Project is currently getting under way at Belle Glade Elementary. The main building is scheduled to be officially wired between Jan. 3 through Jan. 14. The portable classrooms will not be wired. The PC computers slated to go into the portables will not be networked at this time. No portable classroom will receive computers until they have been security lashed. The Zenith file server and headsets have been received at the school.

According to Mr. Robb, the AST student workstations, printers, power strips, tables, lock down cables, and tape drives have yet to arrive. Belle Glade Elementary is very anxious to get this ILS project under way to better benefit each student.

Student Council news

The Belle Glade Elementary Student Council announces its sponsors and officers for the 1993-1994 school year. Mrs. Julia Zecca, kindergarten teacher, and Mrs. Sue Stevenson, ESE teacher, are pleased to be serving as faculty sponsors this year. They feel they have a very active group who have already come up with several service projects for BGE.

President is Jonique Bennett; Vice President is Mindy Rodriguez; Treasurer is Michael Estenfil; Secretary is Marquita Wooten.

You will be hearing from this group after the holidays and feel free to give them new ideas to be of service to BGE.

Pinata party

ESOL students in kindergarten through second grade enjoyed a Pinata party as a culminating activity for the unit of study "Christmas around the World". The students enjoyed a fun-filled afternoon of music, dancing, and best of all breaking the Pinata.

Santa stopped by Old St. Nick made a pit stop at Belle Glade Elementary on Thursday, Dec. 9. Santa visited each class and rewarded each student with a candy cane. Kindergarten students also had their pictures taken with the special visitor. We hope that everyone's wishes come true.

Christmas by any other name

The Newspaper Club brainstormed the meaning of Christmas in three languages and this is what they came up with:

Carols • Holidays • Reindeer • Icicles • Snow • Toys • Merry Christmas • Angels • Santa Claus • Noche De Paz • Arbol Navideno • Venados • Illuminacion • Dulces • Angeles • Diaz Festivos • Neige • Ornement • Etoile • Lumier

Belle Glade students win second place in Black History and Culture Brain Bowl.

Glades Central High School students captured second place at the Annual Black and Culture Brain Bowl held Dec. 10 and 11 in Tampa. The competition was sponsored by Barnett Bank.

They began this year's competition at a disadvantage due to an unfortunate error by regional officials from Ft. Lauderdale and had to begin the double elimination tournament in the losers bracket.

However, the Glades Central team showed their knowledge of the six historical books used in the compe-dition and rose to the number two position, being defeated 13-14 by a Lake City team in the final round.

The Brain Bowl focused on world and American history with an emphasis on African-American culture. Winners received $500 cash awards from the Florida Endowment Fund for Higher Education.

Barnett Bank contributed $25,000 to sponsor competitions at the local, regional and state levels.

They also won $25 gift certificates to JC Penney, a t-shirt, McKnight Achiever Medallion, and a framed print from the Museum of African American Art in Tampa.

The team members are: Sharika Brown, Patricia Morrison, Dounia Joseph, Roger Williams, Stacey Hutchinson, Sherbet Samuels, and Dahlia Ford.

"Barnett was very pleased to be a part of this competition," said Allen L. Lastinger, Jr., President and chief operating officer for Barnett.

"The knowledge these students have about their heritage is remarkable."

Guest Commentary

The Hurston Museum acknowledges with thanks its Christmas gift

By Cartheda T. Konechellah
President & Chief Executive Officer

The 1993 holiday season began for the Zora Neale Hurston Roof Garden Museum in May, when a five-month long dialogue was initiated by school board of Palm Beach County staffers concerning the possible donation of an old school building to the museum.

Although the dialogue concerned a "gift" to the museum, it was not an easy dialogue, because the acceptance of the "gift" building required a supreme leap of faith for every one affiliated with the Hurston Museum. The building, although "free" — a gift — needed to be moved from its home at Belle Glade Elementary School. And, it was the moving of the building that would not be a gift.

The moving of this building would require staff, board and supporters of the museum to stretch the limits of their collective intellect and wallets. It would require them to learn about processes and procedures that not only were new to them, but were not required for any museum activity. And, it would require a fund raising effort that would be short-term, though major. It would require the help of very past and current supporter, plus the development of a message that would attract new support.

This year the Zora Neale Hurston Roof Garden Museum has felt the spirit of giving in a way that would be overwhelming to the average person. In fact, if each person affiliated with the museum were to stand alone as a recipient of the 1993 gifts to the institution, it would be too much for one alone to accept. We thank God that we have not had to stand alone and that in standing together we recognize a community much larger than that of our standard definition that has pulled beside us to guarantee our momentum.

First, the school board of Palm Beach County donated a 5,700 square foot building and with the building, the $20,000 budget previously allocated for its demolition. Secondly, the Palm Beach County Commission agreed to lease land inside Pioneer Park for the location of the building there.

The Belle Glade community came together. From the Lake Shore Middle School principal and staff, who organized a run and walk-a-thon to raise money, to the members of the farming community (Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative, United States Sugar and Roth Farms), who took time to discuss and understand our mission and see that it was honorable and would be of benefit to the entire area, not just the traditional definition of our "community."

Many people read about our plight in the Palm Beach Post, Ice Magazine and the Sun Sentinel. Those media organizations sent our story to newspapers all over the United States. This was positive news about Belle Glade, for a change. Soon we hear from Santa Barbara, CA, Durham, NC, Atlanta, GA, Houston, TX, New Orleans, LA, Detroit, MI, Cedar Falls, Iowa, Washington, D.C. and New York City, from "just plain folks," who took the time to realize that they were part of our community, too and called, and gave, generously.

We heard from our "neighbors" in Clewiston, Boynton Beach, Royal Palm Beach, West Palm Beach, Jupiter, Plantation, Port St. Lucie, Lake Worth, Ft. Myers, Palm Beach Gardens, Orlando, Ft. Lauderdale, Miami, Hialeah, Riviera Beach, Melbourne, Palm Beach, Moore Haven and Stuart. We heard from the Palm Beach County Cultural Community through the directors of the Kravis Center, Ballet Florida, the Morikami Museum, the Armory Art Center, the Duncan Theatre, Sun-Fest and the Norton Art Gallery. We heard from government: the Honorable Maude Ford Lee, Honorable Clarence Anthony, Honorable Keith Babb, Honorable Daniel Bythwood, locally, State Representatives Addie Greene, Alzo Reddick of Orlando and Muriel Dawson of Ft. Lauderdale.

Letters to the editor

Dear Editor:

I wanted to take this opportunity to thank you for the coverage you provided on our security officers' heroics at Palm Glade and for the wonderful story about the "Solo Gang". I look forward to seeing you on Dec. 16 for the awards presentation to Mr. Jones.

I also wanted to let you know what the result of your "solo" article was. The very next day 15 parents came to my office with their children, who are members of the "Solo Gang."

After hours of negotiations, the gang has agreed to stop the destruction and vandalism on the property. In exchange for this, I agreed to provide them with a game room, a clubhouse with cable television, basketball courts, games and new curfew hours, and several other items.

I cannot possibly describe how happy I am that this gang has decided to work with me, rather than against me.

Your newspaper article really made a big difference. After your article came out, I think they realized that I meant business.

Although the cost of furnishing them with what they want is astronomical I really believe that it will benefit the children and the property in the long run. It is also a great feeling knowing that we took a gang of 28 kids, who probably would have ended up in jail, and helped them take their gang in a different direction.

As you and I both know, gangs now a days have a reputation for vandalism, crime, and drugs. I think that we have taken this gang and done something that has never been done before. We've changed a gang from being destructive to being cooperative and proud.

Once again, thank you so much. I am forever grateful.

Sincerely,
Gregg Jenner, Property Administrator

An open letter to community officials, chambers of commerce, county commissioners, business interests, friends and all those interested in Lake Okeechobee.

We want to express our appreciation for the response to our Big "O" hike. The send-off given by Mayor Ramon Horta and the friendly people of Pahokee and Canal Point was greatly appreciated.

Almost 100 people participated in this first three mile section. The view of these hikers strung out over half-a-mile of the dike was spectacular. It was also the first time many of these people had ever seen Lake Okeechobee. The water and juice provided by the people of Canal Point and CPR (Canal Point Renewal) was greatly appreciated. The porta-potties they also supplied were in great demand.

Each night during our nine day trek, from 15 to 30 or more people ate at local restaurants. We enjoyed our meals in Pam's in Pahokee, Mohrs, Barlows, and Lightsey's restaurants, Aruba in Lakeport, Thanksgiving dinner at the Clewiston Inn and other restaurant in Clewiston, such as Robbies, Florida Cafeteria and the Golden Lantern.

The eight nights we were out we stayed at the Pahokee Campground and Marina, Zachary Taylor Campground, Okeetantie Campground, Aruba Campground and the Clewiston KOA Campground. Some people stayed in local motels.

During each day's hike, we had from 20 to over 30 people participating. Two people came from Louisiana, two from Pensacola, two from Orlando, four from the Tampa area and two from Cedar Key.

The majority of people came from local counties particularly Palm Beach and Broward. Approximately 15 people walked every mile every day. An additional 15 or so people participated daily, some coming only for one day, others for up to eight days. For the final day of the hike, 35 people walked from Belle Glade to Pahokee.

It is our belief that the following dollar totals are, if anything, an underestimation of the amount of money spent in the local communities through purchases of food from grocery stores, restaurants, camping fees, motel fees, laundry expenses, bandages and other drugstore needs and miscellaneous items, which included purchase of a tent and at least three pair of boots.

Six people spent about $340 each; one person spent $300; 10 people each spent $150; and 84 people spent $40 each for one day hikes. This totals $7,200, to which we can add $250 spent by friends who came to the Clewiston Inn for Thanksgiving dinner. The grand total was $7,450 plus.

We are pleased with the numbers of people who participated in the hike and with the positive experiences these people had in your communities. In the restaurant where we had our final evening meal, we were given a private room. In another instance, the restaurant provided a van to pick us up at our campground and take us back after our meal.

A number of vehicles honked their horns at us, while we were hiking. Many times people in restaurant recognized that we were part of the group hiking around the lake. These responses made us feel special.

One father and son made the entire trip. The son was 15. Another father and son were able to join us on the first and last day. His son was 12. The 12 year old wants to do the entire trip next year so that he can claim the title of being the youngest person to do the entire hike.

We enjoyed the company of a 73 year old man and a 72 year old woman who hiked the entire 107 miles. Age was no barrier to enjoyment of the hike.

This was an excellent opportunity for us to promote the Florida Trail Association and hiking in general. We hope it was also a positive and rewarding experience for the lake communities.

You are all invited to join with us for the 1994 Big "O" hike, even if you can only walk a few miles.

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the citizens of Southwest Belle Glade, I wish to extend a heartfelt thank you to Mayor Weeks and our city commission for their support in the clean-up of the southwest section of our city.

The trash and abandoned cars have long been an eyesore, but due to the efforts of Lomax Harrell, our city manager, and our city commission this city has begun to take on the luster of beauty our great city should have.

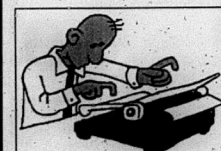

It is my deep hope that these and other community clean-up efforts will continue, so that Belle Glade can be the city we all can be truly proud of.

Letters to the Editor Guest commentary

Dear Editor:

With the holiday season under way, family, college students and old friends will make the journey home to rekindle friendships at the dinner table, during a football game or at a holiday party.

As Belle Glade's distributor of Anheuser-Busch beers, Bernie Little Distributors, Inc. wants to encourage everyone to enjoy the holiday safely -- and that means being responsible. So if you're going to a holiday party, make sure it's agreed up front who the designated driver will be. If you're hosting a holiday party, be sure to have non-alcohol drinks available for designated drivers, offer food and snacks to your guests (which slow down the effect of alcohol on the body), and close the bar one hour before the party is over. And, if despite your efforts, a guest has too much to drink, call a cab or have someone else drive him or her home.

With a little planning, drunk driving can be prevented. Fortunately, more and more Americans are doing just that. In the past decade, drunk driving fatalities among adults are down 32 percent, according to the U.S. Department of Transportation, and among teens, they have dropped a remarkable 60 percent.

The best gift we can give ourselves and our loved ones is a healthy, prosperous 1994. As you toast your friends and family this holiday season, remember... "Know When To Say When."

Sincerely,
Joseph K. Little

Dear Editor:

Recycling has become a way of life for many Americans; without it the future will be uncertain for many of our children.

For the past 21 years I have donated my time and energies as a member of the Board of Trustees of a very special organization - St. Jude's Ranch for Children in Boulder City, Nevada.

St. Jude's Ranch is a licensed, nonprofit, nonsectarian and professionally supervised child care facility. It is dedicated to helping abused, neglected and troubled children and teens.

Please help me help these boys and girls by alerting your readers to St. Jude's unique fund raising project... recycling used greeting cards. The children are not only being taught the value of industry but are also working to save their own future. The card fronts (or pictures), are cut, trimmed and pasted onto preprinted card backs and then offered to the public. The left over material and scraps are also recycled.

In addition to recycling used greeting cards, the Ranch collects Campbell's product labels. And if your readers want to throw in a few bucks for the children, that would be helpful also.

The kids will love you for it, and I will too.

Cordially,
Ed McMahon

P.S. Please send your cards (fronts only, to help reduce postage costs) to St. Jude's Ranch for Children, 100 St. Jude's Street, Dept. EMIC, Boulder City, NV 89005.

Dear Editor:

Newspaper carriers are working seven days a week in snow, cold, rain, etc. during their early hours of the mornings and do not get any incentive from readers. Waiters get tips, whereas these hardworking carriers of newspapers do not get anything.

I suggest that newspaper carriers be given an incentive of $1 per month by all the readers throughout the USA and the newspaper's owners may bill them as delivery charges or by any name as they deem fit.

This will help the newspaper carrier to maintain efficiency and at the same time create social security for their families.

It is high time that a union of newspaper carriers be set up. I am prepared to render my services if required.

Just imagine the services which the readers will be doing for these newspaper carriers by creating conditions of efficiency and at the same time creating social security for these hardworking carriers at practically no cost.

Owners of newspapers throughout the USA are requested to consider implementing this and at the same time they may insert this letter in their newspapers.

Thanking you,

Yours sincerely,

Dear Editor:

The Fifth Annual Community Living Christmas Tree program was once again a heartwarming and joyful event. Each year improvements are made to an already wonderfully arranged program. This year our beautiful new tree, brought to life by gleeful and spirited voices, delighted all who attended.

Thank you for all your hard work and dedication toward our program. Your generosity is very much appreciated by the Living Christmas Tree committee and members.

May your holiday season be merry! Best wishes for a Happy New Year!

Sincerely,

At this time, during this traditional season for giving, we must reflect back on the blessings that have come to the young Zora Neale Hurston Roof Garden Museum from the School Board of Palm Beach County, our primary "Santa", all the way down to the Waycross (Georgia) Correctional Institution inmate, who read about us in the Atlanta Constitution and wrote to wish us well.

Each has given cheerfully, according to their ability, and it is their efforts that provide the glue which draws this mammoth project toward success.

Our thanks, on behalf of the board of directors, supporters and volunteers of the Museum, will be to provide the Glades, with a dynamic cultural institution that serves as a monument, heralding the many good things the Glades has produced. And, that is certainly worth celebrating.

From the Hurston Museum family to all...

May the joys of this season be with you all year.

By Robert H. Baker Jr., senior vice president, U.S. Sugar Corp. on the breakdown in Everglades negotiations

Later last

Thursday, federal representatives led by the Interior Department walked out of the Everglades restoration talks after refusing to repudiate a Corps of Engineers study that calls for flooding their lands and eliminating farming in South Florida.

The plan would do to South Florida farmers what the Missouri River did to farmers in the Midwest -- wipe them out, in our case, forever. If the government had repudiated this Great Flood of '93 plan, I believe we would have an Everglades agreement today.

The issue came up only recently, when we learned that the very people who were negotiating with us -- in particular, Assistant Secretary George T. Framp-ton Jr. -- had also conveyed in secret from us an administration-wide task force on Everglades restoration, the task force produced the study, and with hearings on it all over South Florida, the Corps of Engineers is given every indication they intend to implement.

In the last several weeks we have repeatedly asked Interior to repudiate the study and guarantee that it is administration policy to stick by the commitments Secretary Babbitt made in signing the Statement of Principles on Everglades Restoration in July. We understand that the administration cannot bind Congress, but that is not what we are after. We want a guarantee of an executive branch policy that has already been handed down.

In reply, Secretary Babbitt's office has told us by letter that everything was going "according to (the Secretary's) instructions." And the Interior team has refused to repudiate the Framp-ton Flood study.

As of Thursday afternoon, (Dec. 16) this issue remained unresolved. We felt, however, that, as it was a complete violation of the July Babbitt Agreement, something could be worked out.

Since talks resumed in September, all farmers have asked on any issue is that the federal government honor the commitments it made in July. The Babbitt Agreement included a map that specified which farmlands were to be flooded and which were not. We couldn't believe that the government's people would just throw the Babbitt Agreement in the waste basket. Apparently we were wrong.

Money was a second problem in the talks.

As his July 13 press conference, Secretary Babbitt said there was "no question" that the farmers would pay at most $322 million over 20 years.

That was more than we considered our fair share of the Everglades restoration bill, but worth doing because it meant saving 40,000 farm-related jobs and the Everglades, as well as environmental peace.

But when talks resumed in September, we found that $322 million had become the minimum the government expected us to pay.

To keep talks going, we made a number of concessions on this issue, opening the way for substantially higher payments after 10 years. Then the Interior came up with new demands. In particular they wanted us to pay if the massive fill river marshes that government will design, build and operate don't work.

As a compromise, we said that if we could design, build and operate the phosphorus removal technology, we would guarantee it. As of Thursday afternoon, this issue also remained unresolved.

Finally the July Babbitt Agreement pledged the government to a policy of both restoring the Everglades and, quoting now, "maintaining agriculture."

Friday morning, I was told point blank that preserving South Florida agriculture is not Administration policy.

Apparently telligen the truth isn't policy either. Every one of these problem areas cold have been resolved simply by sticking to the July Babbitt Agreement.

Now let me make a pledge.

The next few months may be bitter and acrimonious. I hope not, but they could be. But some time ago, I promised that, if these talks broke down, my company, U.S. Sugar, would still make the water leaving our land as clean as the water that comes from rain, irrigation and seepage.

For every pound of phosphorus that comes on, only a pound will go off. I promise now that, come what may, we will follow through on that pledge. Where I come from, people keep the promises they make. I've learned that's not Washington's way. But it is ours.

Guest commentary

Lauderdale, and United States Representative Alice Hastings. We have been privileged to redefine the word "community" as we have observed the evolution and expansion of that word between May and today.

Community used to mean a group of contiguous neighborhoods. However, between October and December 1993, the Hurston Museum's community has grown to incorporate the entire United States. Many new "neighbors" have called in their wishes for our building project, and many have sent contributions -- from $3 all the way up to $10,000 -- to help us move our "gift" to its permanent location.

While the normal operations of the museum were of necessity placed temporarily on the "back burner" (and sometimes it seemed they were on someone else's stove, altogether) the Museum Board of Directors, Chairman Mary Evans, LeVoise Smith, Constance, Gonzalez, Anne Haskell, Nathaniel Edwards, Alfred Delliveri, Beatrice Rumph, Sara Creech and Dr. George White met every other Sunday from September through December to assess the status of the fundraising effort, to regroup and to develop new strategic plans. Staying on top of this albeit "alien" situation for us has paid off, as the first section of the building formerly known as "Building 9" of Belle Glade Elementary School was hoisted on the back of a very large truck and parked on Northwest 7th Street in preparation for the move to Pioneer Park, once all three sections of the building have been cut. We expect the move to occur during the holidays.

New board members will begin working with us in January. They will include Mayor Anthony, Earlyne Harrell, Commissioner Lee, Alonzo Perkins, Richard Ramsey and Dorothy Willford, as we get ready for Mucksteppers' Reunion, and our children's programs; Africamp, and the new Zora's Kids program and Africa Month Project, which all begin in January. We have "a lot on our plate", as the old saying goes.

Southwest Tire Allen Oakley, Owner

When the people of this area think of tires, they usually think of Southwest Tire, located in Belle Glade at 133 Southwest 16th Street, phone 996-2400. This fine company has come to be thought of as the community's one-stop tire headquarters. They have tires for cars, trucks, recreational vehicles, tractors and four wheel drive vehicles. Radial tires for American and foreign cars can be selected from their large stock.

This firm features first line, first quality tires from such famous name brand companies as Dunlop and Michelin. However, name brands alone do not make a good dealer. Trained personnel doing quality work constitutes a major reason why this firm stands out among all the other tire dealers in this area. Southwest Tire also features computerized balancing, tire rotation, and oil changes as well as 24-hour road service. Local radio stations send kids to circus

Staff Reporter

One hundred children in the Glades will be able to experience the joy and excitement of clowns, lights and animals due to the generous support of WSWN and WBGF radio stations. The radio station will sponsor a trip that will send 100 students to the matinee performance of Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus on Dec. 29 at the West Palm Beach

Auditorium.

Kenneth Feld, owner of the Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus, has sponsored the radio station with admission tickets to the show. Bus services for the trip will be sponsored by WBGF, WSWN, HRS, United States Sugar and Sugar Cane Cooperative.

Buses plan to depart from the Lake Shore Civic Center at approximately 1 p.m. The show will begin promptly at 2:30 p.m.

Officers with the Belle Glade Police Department will be stationed at the loading and unloading area of the buses, thus providing maximum safety for all the students.

Students attending the trip will be residents of South Bay, Pahokee, Belle Glade and Clewiston.

Phil Hairer, general manager of the radio station, said, "We have the tickets right now at the radio station. We're just waiting to distribute them to the different agencies that will select which kids will go on the trip." He said that he is interested in the project because there are many kids within the area that may never be able to attend the circus.

So that all children will be safe on the trip, Mr. Hairer said there will be a minimum of three chaperones per each bus.

Rosenwald selected to participate in Early Release Program

Rosenwald Elementary was one of four area schools approved for the Early Release Program. The program allows kids to be dismissed early on specified days so that teachers and faculty members can attend in-service training workshops.

The Ronald McDonald show was performed for the students at Rosenwald. The Dec. 8 program was performed to promote reading.

Students learned the value of money and saving by participating in the First Union Banking program. The students' first banking day was Dec. 7.

Rosenwald students were able to strut their stuff in the City of Belle Glade's Annual Christmas Parade.

The students also were able to share the joy of the Christmas season with the school's hand bell choir as they visited the Pahokee Senior Citizens Center as part of an annual activity.

Residents and visitors to the South Bay area will be delighted with the fourth and fifth grade art display of print work.

The art work can be viewed at the South Bay Post Office, the city hall and the Clarence E. Anthony Branch Library.

Congressman Alcee Hastings was at Rosenwald to visit the school on Dec. 10 for a luncheon with community leaders and to speak with the fourth and fifth grade students.

Two-year-old dies after he chokes on piece of bread

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

Detectives with the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department recently investigated the death of a 2-year-old Pahokee boy after an apparent asphyxiation on a piece of bread.

Ronald Banks, 31, found his son, Travante Banks, at approximately 8 p.m. in another part of the family home. When Mr.

Banks located the youth, he had stopped breathing and he had no pulse. The father rushed the boy to the hospital where all attempts of reviving the youth failed. He was pronounced dead at Everglades Regional Medical Center, Pahokee, at 9:48 p.m.

According to the medical examiner's report, an autopsy revealed that the youth died from asphyxiation. A piece of bread was lodged into the airway. Reports rule the incident as an accidental death.

The mother, Sheila Banks, was not in the home at the time of the incident.

Burglars steal dangerous nuclear gauges

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office is investigating a burglary at a construction trailer where two radioactive nuclear density gauges were stolen.

The burglary was reported Dec. 16 by Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation. The burglary occurred to a construction trailer located 21.1 miles south of the City of South Bay, on the east side of U.S. 27.

Numerous items were stolen, and the nuclear density gauges are valued at approximately $6,000 each. According to reports, the gauges are painted bright yellow with red radio active decals on each one. They are 12-14 inches long and 6-8 inches in width. This is equivalent to the size of a shoe box with a handle on top.

According to Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office reports, the gauges are considered dangerous but not extremely volatile because they are sealed.

Anyone having contact with these items, or information as to their whereabouts, should contact the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department, 996-1670, or the nearest authority.
